ASSESSMENT OF VALUE EDUCATION IN INDIA

Ms. Jyoti Bala

Assistant Professor and Head, Department of Management, S.D. College, Hoshiarpur

Introduction

Education is an eye-opener to human beings. Education paves a way for social and economic development. As pointed out by the greatest thinker of the world Socrates, raise the question of why and for what? If you get the proper reply, you will not be dominated by anybody. To ask these two questions you need a proper education. Education should impart not only knowledge and at the same time inculcate the values of life also. Mere education will produce only graduate missions without any needy output for the well-being of the country. Value education may seem a vague term to many of us even though we may be hearing about it frequently. While beginning this foundation course in value education, let us understand what we are talking about and what its need is, particularly in the context of professional education. In this course, we are going to clarify certain fundamental issues which are important to all of us in our life-issues which directly relate to our happiness, welfare, our aspirations, goals and success in life. In a sense, value education deals with what is universally valuable to all of us, what is conducive to our individual and collective happiness and prosperity in a sustainable way. It enables us to be in harmony within ourselves, with other human beings and with the rest of nature at large. Such an understanding will be vital for the successful conduct of our profession as well.

Basic Guidelines For Value Education

Now that we have identified the need for value education, let us also visualize certain effective and widely acceptable guidelines which will enable the introduction of value education in the present system. Given below are broad guidelines to decide on what would qualify as an appropriate input in value education:

Universal

Whatever we study as value education has to be universally applicable to all human beings and be
